

Society is on the qui vive over the coming minstrel show to be given at Bishop Hall, the last of January, by a number of Honolulu's most prominent society girls. Mrs. McLennan will drill the girls, while "Sonny" Cunha has arranged the songs which will be all the latest and catchy ones. The duets and quartets will be composed of some of the finest talent in the city. A fancy eleg and shuffle dance will be given by four couples. This particular dance has had a great run in the states, having twelve encores in New York city, and ten in San Francisco. Miss Alice Cooper is the originator of this minstrel show and will have full charge of the affair. Miss Cooper is possessed of diversified talents and accomplishments, and by her cordial, frank and unaffected manner is a universal favorite. The proceeds of the entertainment will go toward paying for the equipment of the Punahou Tennis Club. The club has been organized, Miss Cooper being the president, Mrs. James Love vice president, Miss Doris Girdler secretary, and Miss de Bretteville treasurer. Miss

Cooper has loaned the land upon which two courts will be built, for four years. These energetic young ladies are planning to build a clubhouse with all sorts of attractions. Over twenty members have been enrolled, and many of the young society matrons have consented to serve as patronesses and lend all the aid that they can to promote the undertaking. A full list of the patronesses will be given in next week's social columns.

Miss Elsa Schaefer was hostess at an elaborate luncheon on Thursday last at "Rosbank," her Nuuanu home. Miss Katherine Goodale being the complimentary guest. The luncheon table was exquisite in its trimmings of roses and smilax. Tiny hand-painted fans were converted into place cards. After the repast cards and music were enjoyed. Those present were Miss Elsa Schaefer, Miss Katherine Goodale, Miss Schaefer, Mrs. Albert Waterhouse, Mrs. Harold Giffard, Mrs. Ernest Ross, Mrs. Alfred Castle, Miss Cordelia Walker, Miss Beatrice Castle and Miss Marion Waterhouse.

One of the prettiest dances of the season was the informal hop given last night by the members of the Kunalu Boat Club. The decorations were in the artistic hands of Miss Ella Wright, and the pretty ballroom was much admired in its gala attire of flags, bunting and greens. The guests were received by the chaperones, Captain and Mrs. Fay, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Angus, and a coterie of pretty girls. The dancing began at 8:30 to the music of the Hawaiian Quintet Club.

Among those present were Capt. and Mrs. Fay, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Angus, Miss Beatrice Castle, Miss Alice Cooke, Miss Center, Miss Miner, Miss Cooper, Miss Charlotte Hall, Miss Hopper, Miss Sara Lucas, Miss Genevieve Langton, Miss Madge McCandless, Miss Restarick, Miss Margaret Peterson, Miss Katherine Hopper, Maud de Bretteville, the Misses Murphy of Helena, Mont.; Isabel Cooper, Renny Catton, Messrs. Jack Young, Livingston, Percy Clerghorn, Lowrey, Harry Lueds, Harry Cobb, John Catton, Page, Robert Catton, Edwards, Roscoe Perkins, Will Warren, Lieut. Rodgers, Lieut. Wrightson, Lieut. Dougherty, Lieut. Hall, and many others.

One of the prettiest women that has ever visited in Honolulu is Mrs. Charles Green of San Francisco. Mrs. Green is a petite blonde with distinctly the Irish type of beauty, possessing large blue eyes, blonde hair and rich coloring. Mrs. Green's frocks have been the admiration of all that have seen them, most of them being Paris creations. Mr. and Mrs. Green have traveled extensively, but are most enthusiastic over the beauties of the Hawaiian Islands, and in all probability will return next winter.

Canon and Mrs. Simpson returned last Wednesday after a most enjoyable trip to Kauai, the former conducting Episcopal services during his stay on the Garden Isle. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Knudsen and Mr. and Mrs. Gay, and were extensively entertained at dinners, automobile parties and teas. Mr. Simpson was made a canon recently much to the delight of his many friends. Canon Simpson has taken up the Emmanuel movement and has brought much happiness and health into many homes, by his faithful efforts.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swanzy and Miss Swanzy, after a most delightful visit at the Volcano House, returned yesterday on the Mauna Kea.

Mrs. Edward Tenney and her charming daughter have been giving a series of informal tennis teas at their colonial home on Lunalilo street. A number of the younger set participated in this pleasure Wednesday afternoon. The court in the Tenney's grounds is one of the best in town, and Miss Tenney is an expert player. Thursday afternoon Mrs. Edward Tenney was hostess at an enjoyable tennis party, and, after strenuous games, delicious refreshments were served and tea poured by the entertaining hostess.

A tramping club has been recently organized by a bevy of society girls which is called the "First Regiment of the Reducing Club." The first tramp will probably be on Lincoln's birthday, February 12, to the Peninsula, the members staying over until Monday morning. The girls will wear natty costumes of khaki, pongee waists, khaki leggings, tan shoes and army hats.

An enjoyable Welsh rabbit party was given Wednesday evening at the Moana Hotel, in honor of Judge Williams, who left the following day for the Aorangi for his home in Vancouver. B. C. The genial jurist has been lavishly entertained by his numerous friends in Hawaii, and is making plans to return to the Islands, when he will be accompanied by his wife, who is said to be one of the most beautiful women of Vancouver. The rabbit party was served in the private dining-room of the Moana, which is well adapted for such entertainments. The supper table was set for fourteen, the table being one mass of red carnations, and trailing asparagus vine; tall candelabra containing numerous candles ornamented the four corners of the table, the soft red glow proving a most becoming light. Tiny steins with the name cards attached by red satin ribbon made dainty souvenirs for the occasion. Bonbons, containing caps and verses, were at each place. During the evening Judge Williams made speech that was very interesting and witty. Among those present were Judge Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Rear, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hutchins, Dr. and Miss Miner, Miss Bryan, Miss Francis Murphy, Miss Curtis, Miss Addie Murphy, and Mrs. Elizabeth Church.

Mrs. Allen Bottomley will give an informal tea next Friday at her beautiful home in Manoa Valley.

Mrs. Herman Ashley Robertson entertained a number of her friends delightfully at dinner, Thursday evening, at the Moana Hotel. The function was in honor of Countess Senni, who left on the Manchuria for Italy, the young Countess and Mrs. Robertson having been friends for years. The table was elaborately decorated with long-stemmed pink roses and pink candles with fluffy silk shades. A dainty wicker basket formed the centerpiece, filled with mignonette, roses and feathery asparagus vine, the handle being hidden by smilax and tied with pink tulle. Mrs. Robertson, who so thoroughly understands the art of dressing, was exquisitely clad in a lace princess robe direct from Paris. The Countess Senni wore a black chiffon gown, which was especially becoming to her blonde type of beauty. A spray of white orchids worn in her corsage greatly enhanced the beauty of the toilet. Miss Behr of Pasadena, who, by the way, is a stunning brunette, looked particularly well in white satin empire; Mrs. Harry Macfarlane's costume of palest blue chiffon, embroidered in gold, suited her to perfection, the gown accentuating her dark blue eyes and dazzling pink and white complexion; Miss Alice Macfarlane looked girlish and sweet in a gown of pink dotted chiffon. Those present besides Mrs. Robertson and Countess Senni were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Miss Alice Macfarlane, Miss Behr, Mr. Rufus Spalding, Mr. Morgan Adams of Los Angeles, Mr. Jack Atkinson and Mr. Will Roth.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hall are staying at Pearl Harbor while their artistic little bungalow at Kaimuki is being completed.

Mrs. Richard Ivers was the hostess on Thursday afternoon, in her Manoa Valley home, at one of the most enjoyable of the winter's bridge parties. The card tables were placed amid beautifully-arranged clusters of cut flowers and potted palms. The floral effect was much admired. Many beautiful women, clad in handsome gowns, were present. Mrs. Ivers understands the art of entertaining, Thursday proving no exception to the rule.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Isenberg are entertaining a home party over Sunday at their beautiful country home at Waialae.

A charming event of the past week was the luncheon given by Mrs. Charles Wilder, Friday, in honor of Mrs. Faxon Bishop, who returned last month from Europe. Fourteen places encircled the table, which was artistically decorated in red carnations and maidenhair fern. The guest of honor looked unusually well in a Parisian kown of black satin, with yoke and Miss Juliet Hartwell intends to sail for Japan on the Siberia, on the 15th inst., to join her younger sister Dorothy, who has been living several months in Tokio with Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Whitehouse of New York city entertained at dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Galt on Monday evening at the Moana Hotel. The decorations were novel in the extreme, a basket filled with large scarlet carnations and maidenhair occupying the center of the table. The flowers decorating the handle and base of the basket contained tiny electric light bulbs, while softly-shaded candles occupied the corners of the table. Those present as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Whitehouse were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Galt, Mr. E. J. Whitehouse, Mr. Townsend of New York and Mr. Allen, Albany, N. Y.

There is a treat in store for the Honolulu public on Saturday evening next at the Opera House when Mrs. McLennan will present her pupils for the first time in a one act drama entitled "One Touch of Nature makes the whole World Kin," in which Miss Alice Spalding, as Constance Belmour, the actress; Mr. C. H. Diekey, as Mr. Holder the copyist and unknown father of Constance, and Mr. H. Reinecke, as Mr. Fletcher playwright and manager will appear.

The balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet" will appeal to all lovers of Shakespeare, Juliet being portrayed by Miss Alice Spalding and Romeo by the clever and popular little amateur actress, Miss Ray Bell.

The dramatic part of the program will conclude with "Mrs. Oakley's Telephone," a provoker of mirth the personage of which will be ably portrayed by Miss Whitford, as Mrs. Oakley, mistress of the telephone; Miss Marion Green, as Constance, who meets the wrong man at the ferry; Miss Sprinks as Mary, who confuses numbers through the "telephone" and generally mixes things up, and Mrs. W. Montrose Graham as Emma, who "lives" Adolph sleeves of chiffon. A large black hat, with a bird of paradise, was worn with the costume. Mrs. Charles Wilder wore an elaborate lingerie gown, and Mrs. Richard Ivers a wistaria-blue satin, combined with gold passementerie and cream lace; a picture hat covered with plumes gave the finishing touch to the toilet. After luncheon the rest of the afternoon was spent in playing bridge. Those present were Mrs. Faxon Bishop, Mrs. Alonzo Gartley, Mrs. Herman Ashley Robertson, Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Mrs. Andrew Fuller, Mrs. Richard Ivers, Mrs. Jack Dowsett, Mrs. Samuel Walker, Mrs. George Rodiek, Mrs. Samuel Dunning, Mrs. George Potter, Mrs. Sanford Wadhams and Miss Walker.

Engelfedel. Besides these attractions there will be an olio in which Mrs. Ingalls will contribute a violin solo, that will in itself be worth the price of admission. Mrs. Bruce McV. Mackall, whose voice is so beloved of Honolulu audiences, will sing; Miss Sprinks will appear in a clever impersonation of a gay widow of fifty; while Eleanor McLennan-Rivenburgh whose sympathetic voice has given pleasure to New York and San Francisco audiences will be heard assisted by Prof. and Mrs. Ingalls.

The popular quartet consisting of Messrs. Kaai, Henry Clerk, W. Kerr and Dr. Cowes; the Royal Kawaihau Glee Club of Mr. S. K. Nainoa, have volunteered their services while Mr. Viera and his orchestra of twenty-five pieces will assist during the evening. Many additions to the program are anticipated and will be published in full during the week.

Mrs. McLennan, as an indefatigable worker, is sparing neither time nor energy to make the evening a success and swell the fund from Honolulu to help the stricken victims of the recent disaster.

Mr. Adams has kindly offered his services to assume the business management and Mr. Giffard has contributed as his share the free use of the Opera House and the electric lights of same, while the following ladies, up to date, have given their names as patronesses:

Mrs. W. F. Frear, Mrs. Mott-Smith, Mrs. Thurston, Mrs. S. B. Dole, Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Mrs. Herman Ashley Robertson, Mrs. Forster, Mrs. G. P. Wilder, Mrs. J. S. Green.

Mrs. Falls, wife of Captain Falls, the Army Quartermaster, is expected on the transport arriving on the 12th of this month. Mrs. Falls is a charming woman, and will be an acquisition to Honolulu's smart set.

Ex-Governor Archibald Cleghorn entertained informally at tea on Wednesday at his beautiful Waikiki residence. Tea was served in the drawing-room, and after an hour of laughter and chatting the genial host conducted his guests through the gardens of Aianah. These tropical grounds were greatly admired by the guests, a number of visitors from the mainland stating that they never expected to see such tropical loveliness.
